OWN A PIECE
OF THE ROCK!
SOUTHERN ROCK THAT IS.

~ A Piece of Confederate History ~

Before becoming a monument Stone Mountain was a granite quarry that sent building blocks to structures such as the steps on the east wing of the United States Capital in Washington, D.C. and the locks of the Panama Canal. Work was slated to start in 1915, however funding problems and World War I delayed work until 1923. Two of the most popular fund raising projects were a granite stone from the carving in a souvenir box and the 1925 Stone Mountain Half Dollar. The Stone Mountain half dollar was officially released on July 3, 1925 and sold for $1.00 each with 50 cents going to fund the monument. After taking into account the coins returned to the mint for melting there were only 1,314,709 pieces distributed. It is unknown how many of the souvenir boxes with the granite were produced. The box has a brief description of the monument and a few facts concerning it. We have a very limited number of sets.
